SCOTTY'S MESSAGE

We have had many requests for daylilies for landscaping. What can be more effective than a bank made glamorous with exotic blossoms during the hot summer months - each day fresh and dewy flowers. When one sees a field of daylily blooms, it is hard to realize that every blossom in that beautiful picture will be gone that night, but yet tomorrow the show will be just as magnificent - and that goes on for weeks and weeks. If you would like to spread beauty around your place, at a price that people whose yearnings exceed their earnings can afford to pay, see our Bargain Mart, and our Daylilies for Landscaping offer. We shall be glad to make suggestions as to color combinations and the most suitable plants for all-season bloom.

We are happy to be able to continue the Home Nursery Section and again offer choice plants at very low costs, with LITTLE or NO FREIGHT COSTS. These freight costs can be quite an item. They are paid by you, the customer, and a field grown plant dug with a ball of earth can cost you more in transportation than the original cost of the plant.

Many people have written in asking for small azaleas. Unfortunately, last year we were unable to take any cuttings as the plants had been too badly damaged during the "Terrible Freeze" (I'm sure we shall not forget that winter for many a year!) This year we expect to propagate azaleas again, and hope to have them in our next catalog. Most of our plants in the Home Nursery Section are broadleaved evergreens, and some are inclined to be tender in the North. We are working toward hardy types of azaleas, as well as other evergreens, and since our nursery is situated atop a mountain, with an elevation of 2100 feet, actually we are, climatically speaking, about 200 miles farther north than would seem from our location, down here in Sunny Tennessee. (I wonder where old Sol can be - we've had fog and rain now for over a week!) You will find the small plants listed on pages 19, 20, 21.

We hear that Mr. Claar's THE DOCTOR made quite an impression at the National Meeting in New England last summer - and yet, we hear that when one gentleman remarked that it was the most impressive new variety he had seen this year, those in the "know", who had seen Mr. Claar's garden said, "Wait until you have seen some of the seedlings from it" - and we hope that next year we'll be able to offer at least one of those wonderful new reds that are Elmer Claar's specialty. Last year we spent some time in Mr. William T. Wood's seedling patch, (you remember he's the originator of Marie Wood and Bill Wood) and never have I seen in one spot so many glorious blossoms - so many that were too beautiful and outstanding not to be introduced, and yet, it is Mr. Wood's policy and ours, not to release such a multitude of varieties, but to release only the very finest - those that are different or better than what is already on the market.

Finally, together with Mr. Wood, we were able to select a few of the very best, and as soon as we have built up sufficient stock, some very lovely daylilies will be coming forth. Those we selected are pinks and pastels, and simply luscious!

Since we felt that we should select only a few to be named, we simply could not think of discarding all those other beauties, so next year we expect to offer them to you as unnamed seedlings. They are Marie Wood seedlings, and since Marie Wood transmits its pink coloring, they are truly exquisite.

HAVE FUN AND ADVENTURE IN YOUR OWN HOME NURSERY

A few dollars invested now, plus a little patience and a couple of good growing seasons will give you specimen plants worth many times their original cost. You will amaze your friends when you proudly show them these plants as your babies, for it will have been you who grew them on from their small sizes to these fine specimens. You will have heaps of fun and adventure watching your children grow and develop. You will know just where you want to place them in your permanent planting, and by clipping, pruning and shaping, eventually have the size and shape of plant that YOU want for that particular spot.

The following choice plants are all well established. They are pot grown and come to you with a complete undisturbed root system. This, with a little care and attention from you, assures a very high percentage of survival. The plants are of a size that should develop within two to three years into first class landscape size specimens.

On orders of less than $5.00, please include 50c for packing and postage. On orders over $5.00, packing and postage FREE.

COTONEASTERS (Rockspray)

Adpressa—A spreading dwarf shrub, a gem for the rock garden with tiny leaves, white flowers and brilliant dainty red berries. Creeping.

Divaricata—Spreading Cotoneaster. Graceful spreading habit, small green polished leaves. Red, egg-shaped fruit. Glorious scarlet Autumn tints.

Franchetti—Evergreen leaves about 1¼ inches long; orange fruit. Very showy. Not hardy North.

Horizontalis—Low spreading shrub with graceful sprays arching out over ground and rocks, making an excellent cover. Tiny leaves turn bright orange and red in the fall. Red berries.

ELEAGNUS

Pungens Fruitlandi—Fast-growing evergreen shrub with handsome foliage. The large broad leaves are green on top, silver underneath. Inconspicuous flowers are followed by berries.

EUONYMOUS

Japonicus—Evergreen shrub with shiny leaves.

Japonicus Pulchellus—A variety of japonicus which has very small shiny leaves.

Patens—(Sieboldiana)—A handsome evergreen shrub particularly lovely in fall and winter when covered with myriads of coral-red berries.

ILEX (Hollies)

Acquifolium (English Holly)—Very glossy leaves with large triangular spiny teeth and bright red fruit.

Acquifolium Hybrid No. 1—Very similar to above with variations in the spines.

Acquifolium Hybrid No. 2—Very similar to above.

Acquifolium Hybrid No. 3—Very similar to above.

Cornuta Burfordii—Large shiny green leaves with few or no spines. Very showy with an abundance of large red berries.

Cornuta Femina (Chinese Holly)—Handsome evergreen, similar to above with more spines. Large shining red berries amid heavy growth of rich glossy green leaves.

Crenata Bullata (Convexa)—Small evergreen leaves, nearly round. Black berries.

Crenata Bullata seedling, prostrate type—Similar to above except prostrate.

Crenata Rotundifolia—Leaves round and glossy. Evergreen with black berries.

Opaca East Palatka—Selected variety of American holly. Fast growing with light green leaves, and many red berries.

Opaca Femina—Berry-bearing American holly, selected from heavily berried trees.

Opaca Howardi—Has darker leaves and fruits more abundantly than regular American holly.

Vomitaria—(Yaupon)—Evergreen shrub to small tree with slender leaves. A profusion of scarlet berries make this holly very showy.

JUNIPERUS chinensis Pfitzeriana (Spreading Juniper)—Most widely planted of the spreading junipers. Wide spreading branches pendant at ends. Foliage a constant grayish-green.

LAURUS OFFICINALIS—(English Laurel)—Beautiful broad, shining foliage. Not hardy north of Washington D. C.

LAUROCERASUS ZABELIANA (Zabel Laurel)—Evergreen, with foliage rich, glossy green and little affected by cold or dry weather. Hardier than English or Portugal Laurel.

LIGUSTRUM LUCIDUM—(Waxleaf Ligustrum)—One of the South's most popular Broadleaved Evergreens. Ideal for foundation planting, borders and groups.

LOROPETALUM CHINENSIS—Small, dark green foliage. Flowers in early spring are white and feathery. Evergreen.

PIERIS JAPONICA—Lovely evergreen shrub with dainty white flowers in drooping panicles, similar to lily of the valley. New foliage comes out in brilliant reddish color, and changes through various color tones to its final stage of dark green.

ABELIA GRANDIFLORA—Prices on Abelia—25c each; 10 for $2.00. Glossy evergreen foliage with quantities of white and pink arbutus-like flowers all summer. Splendid for hedge.
